PARIS, Aug 26.—(P)—The correspondent of the Havas agency at the Hague reparations reported this afternoon Philip Snowden, British chancellor of 'the exchequer, had leclared insufficient and unacceptable the new proposals of the other four creditor powers to increase the British share of German reparations.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Aug. 26.—(P)—Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, today had under consideration a new of clear of France, Italy, Belgium and Japan designed to fulfill British demands for an increased share of German reparations.

Experts of the four powers estimated the offer represented 75 per cent of the amount which Mr. Snowden has been demanding, although in British quarters there was some doubt as to whether it represented that high a proportion. French circles it was made known the offer was regarded as the last concession toward the British stand the four powers would make.

The new proposal, delivered late last night in writing, was assumed here to have been found worthy of the step of the continuous proposal, delivered late last night in writing, was assumed there to have been found worthy of the British chancellor at least, and this has given rise to renewed hopes among demands for an increased share of German reparations.

Arriving at dawn, three and a quarter days from Japan, the great dirigible planned to leave before midnight for Lakehurst, N. J. This would have it fly over Cleveland, seat of the national air races, if weather permits a course via El Paso, Kansas City. St. Louis, Chicago and Cleveland.

Zeppelin company officials announced the sky liner expected to make the transcontinental trip to Lakehurst, N. J., in 48 hours. This would mean belting the globe in the fastest time in the history of man, twelve days actual travel.

The ground and refueling crews worked at top speed without a hitch shad were confident of having the ship prepared to take off at the ship prep the ship prepared to take off at eight o'clock. The order of depar-ture, however, was for 11 o'clock. Nineteen passingers, thrilled with the most spectacular air ride in the history of air transport, were en-thusiastic to ride on to completion of the circumnavigtion of the globe.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, despite two days of serious illness, due to food poisoning shortly after the sky cruiser left Japan, piloted the dirigible into such favorable wind channels, changing course to meet advantageous winds, that he crossed the Pacific in less than 68 hours. (Continued on Page 10)

REVISION OF LAWS IN MATTER OF FEES IS NOW ADVOCATED

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE NOW INVESTIGATING HAR-RIS COUNTY OFFICES

HOUSTON, Aug. 23.—(P)—A revision in statutes to provide for an accounting of all fees of county officers at a central and easily accessible place was seen as desirable today by the joint legislative committee investigating the renumeration of such authorities as it moved in here for its Harris county inquisition.

county inquisition.

The committee completed its hearing at Greenville late yesterday in a two-hour session after previously having wound up a Dallas inquiry.

At Greenville three men—Auditor Joe Fugitt, former county attorney Earl McAlester and District Clerk George Van Cleave—told of the handling and booking of collections and of the division of money.

In addition to their accounting decision, the legislators also decided no county should be allowed to retain "outside" counsel for collection of delinquent taxes.

ROBERT E. LAYTON
The plumbing trade has improved a great deal in the last few years. It has taken short cuts to efficiency and these short cuts have made plumbing what it is today. A few years ago, plumbing was a great mystery, known only to the elect, and good plumbers were scarce. Also, charges were high, for in those days plumbing was like a Chinese puzzle to all save the experts.

High repair bills came from the complex nature of the work rather than from unreasonable profits. But it was then that the old story started about the plumber whose bill was $55—and who, when asked how he arrived at the charge, replied: "Five dollars for the work and $50 for knowing how."

Plumbers still charge for knowing how, and it is a legitimate charge. Lawyers and doctors charge for knowing how. All skilled labor has its "know how" charge. But now the plumber charges much less for the mystery part, and the reason is that plumbing has been simplified. Plumbing now has an axiom by which its peo-
